

Homeless Black Dude Murders Ukrainian Model on Charlotte Subway

for no reason

And what do you know, she gets prettier every day! This is what she looked like when I saw the story yesterday:

Actually prettier there, for my taste, but AI wanted her to grab the attention of the average newsreader even more, so it put her through a salon and make-up program. It even plumped her lips, as you see. So no match. Also no match to this person:

That's supposed to be her getting stabbed. Wow, so she lost about 20 pounds and became a teenager overnight? And why would this Ukrainian model be riding the subway in Charlotte by herself looking like that? We are told she was on her way to work. Really? So this girl was working where? The Thrifty Nickel? Because girls who look like that can't find work anywhere except delivering pizzas or making subs.

That was a joke, but I checked her shirt and Zepeddies really is a pizzeria, so we are supposed to believe she worked there. Nice product placement! I wonder how much that cost?

What else to notice? They cut the actual stabbing, that would be too hard to fake, but the dude walks out of the subway car and all those people completely ignore him, staying on their phones. No one even looks up. Because nothing happened.

Also notice what he has tattooed on his throat: a bee. The Phoenicians love their bees, as we know. See the guest series by Gerry on Ancient Spooks.

But I knew this was fake before even looking at the pictures. How? The word Ukrainian. She is being sold as not just Ukrainian, but as a Ukrainian war refugee. What are the odds this crazy Rasta man would target a Ukrainian war refugee supermodel on the subway in Charlotte, NC? This is scriptwriting for the brain-damaged. It is so transparent it is a joke.

Amazing isn't it, how they were so seamlessly able to combine the Ukraine war propaganda with the manufactured race wars and Operation Chaos? I am just surprised one of them hasn't yet turned out to be a tranny.

You may also want to ask yourself this: Is every seat on the Charlotte subway directly under a CCTV camera? That would require a lot of cameras, wouldn't it? If you live there, you may wish to test that theory.

Also weird that this is just hitting the news, since it allegedly happened last month. If you do a Google search on it, the recent reportage was led by the Hindustan Times and India Today. What? As far as I could determine, WCNC in Charlotte broke the story 16 days ago:

"She was always very helpful, very supportive, and just had a heart of gold," family friend Lonnie said. "She was a sweetheart. And it makes me sick to think that she's gone."

Lonnie? Who the fuck is Lonnie? That isn't how you report these things. Back when reporting the news had some rules, you couldn't report unsubstantiated BS like that from pretend sources. If you give a name, you give a full name, not "Lonnie". So this is just another AI hallucination.

We know from AI's reports on me that the computers make up whatever they want. According to AI (LUMO) I have written "hundreds" of pages of articles. Except that I have written about 150 volumes of research, composing around 50,000 book pages. So not hundreds. AI now claims I am mainly a cartoonist and illustrator, though of course I am not. It claims my cartoons are in a style "hailing back to classical newspaper cartoons", and that I use them to illustrate my articles. False and false. AI is just making this crap up from nothing. It says that among my most discussed claims is that the photon is not a particle, being instead a wave. Just the opposite of what I actually say. I am the premier proponent in the world of the photon as a real particle with a real mass and radius. AI says I release books in paperback only through POD printers. No, I have sold far more hardbacks than softbacks, and AI somehow forgets to tell you my first book was introduced by a NASA astrophysicist out of Oxford and Johns Hopkins. AI instead claims I have no mainstream support or readership. It claims my positive audience is small, which is also a lie, as we know from my numbers before Google began delisting me. See here for proof via screenshots of search results, proving I was outranking the major universities like Harvard, MIT, Stanford, and CalTech. Many papers were outranking Wikipedia and Dictionary.com! I still am, and in some cases the searches fail to hide that, as I have shown recently. A lot of these fake events papers of mine go to #1 immediately at Yandex, which still reports real numbers. They sometimes go to the front page of Bing or Yahoo, though they are usually taken down pretty quickly. Proving censorship.

Anyway, they were always making up these new stories, but now they have tapped AI to make it even easier, so the stories are getting even sloppier.

The stabber is given as Decarlos Brown, fake name alert. Tastes more like a CIA name, using their usual protocol. Reminds me of DeFreeze from the Hearst fake. They love to play with that form. According to Radaris there is no Decarlos Brown age 34 in Charlotte. Instantcheckmate lists a Decarlos Dejuan Brown, 34, related to Tracy/Tracey Brown, so strange that Radaris had no such listing. This guy has one relative and one city listed, so not very convincing. The Tracey is listed as Tracey Vontrea Brown, 52 or 33, also of Hartford, CT, related to a Nivia Webb. Webb is of course a red-flag name, since the King of England is a Webb through his mother. Tracey could be Decarlos' mother, if he is indeed 34. He looks older. This Nivia Webb comes up as Ivia Tillman, 51, on a search, so maybe his aunt. Except that Radaris lists her as Nivia Tillman, 41, of Wake Forest. LinkedIn informs us this Nivia Webb got a degree in criminal justice in Wake Forest in 2013, but doesn't tell us what she has been up to since then, other than working in human resources. Either way, it doesn't make much sense that a guy whose sister has a college degree in criminal justice and is working in human resources would be homeless, touring the subways to kill pretty blonde white girls.

Also a problem is that this Decarlos Brown is said to have a long rap sheet, but I found no evidence of that. He should have prior offenses listed on the web, including booking photos, but there is nothing to back that up. Looks more like a wannabe rapper to me, entirely too well-groomed to be homeless or coming out of prison.

In fact, we have absolute proof that story is false. Do you see it Sherlock? I will give you a moment.

Do you know how long it takes to grow dreads like that? Years. But they don't allow them in prison, since you can hide weapons or contraband in that nest. So there is no way he has been in prison recently. You will say it is a wig. Maybe, but again it kills the story since homeless guys can't afford to buy a wig like that and can't manage the upkeep. They are very expensive and require a lot of maintenance to keep them looking like that. They are also extremely hot, so you wouldn't want a wig like that living on the street in Charlotte in the summer. You would sweat yourself out in a matter of hours. Go back to the video, where he is not only in those dreads, he is wearing that same hoodie. But this murder was done in August in Charlotte, where it is 100 with 90% humidity. He would be a puddle. If you are buying this you just aren't thinking. He's obviously a rich black guy who spends all his time in front of the AC and mirror, probably lifting weights and primping.

According to Radaris, these black people are related to a Dolly Lindsay, 71, of Richmond, VA, New Bern, VA, and Fort Meyers, FL, who no longer seems to be black. Lindsay is a top peerage name, which is why it jumped out at me. Through David Howard Lindsay, these appear to be the Lindsays who own Cella Ford in New Bern. According to my research, that dealership is not owned by a black family, so what is going on here? David's address is a gated community on a golf course, so it seems like a strange connection for a homeless Bob Marley in Charlotte. Maybe just a mistaken listing, I don't know.

Here's another big glitch in the story. We are told the victim Iryna Zarutka just arrived in Charlotte from the Ukraine, but the people searches say otherwise. She has been here long enough to get into the big computers, and her sister, Valeriia, 19, and mother, Anna, 44, are also here. So I guess she will be living on as this sister Valeriia. She has two locations, the other one being Huntersville, NC.

Also amazing how many high fashion shots they found of this war refugee pizza girl. That's not quite the same as the one above, since the hair strands are different. She's not a model, she just happens to have a lot of modeling photos lying around for this event. So convenient!

Added last minute:

That image came out today on X, posted by Ian Cheong and republished by Infowars and others. See a little problem? I keyed on it because of the camera angle. There wouldn't be a camera there. But once we blow it up we see a bigger problem: It isn't a photo or a still from video, it is an AI painting. So many things are wrong: he has longer dreads, there are two seats not three, and her clothes are lacking the graphics. Black guys should also be very angry about this project, since one result will be to make it harder for them to date the white chicks. Some of them aren't too attracted to skinny white girls, but some of them are. So black males should be onboard with me here.

September 9: They have now released the full video, which was a big mistake, since you can see the story of a stabbing is false. He has no knife and doesn't even strike her once, with or without the knife. It appears that he says something to her and raises his arm, but doesn't strike or stab her. His hand comes nowhere near her. Leaving open the possibility that these two people aren't even crisis actors, but that CIA or DHS just used this footage to manufacture a story without them.

More proof that this is a fake is that the FBI and Justice Department have now swooped in almost three weeks late to fake audio of Decarlos and say they are prosecuting him personally, with Pam Bondi giving press conferences outlining the federal prosecution. But none of that is necessary since the Charlotte police are fully capable of charging him with murder, had this been real. This was not treason or a terrorist attack, so there is no reason for the Feds to be involved here, other than to grandstand and manufacture race wars. I see it as mostly an eyes-off event, created to draw your attention away from negative vaccine news in the media recently. Race wars and gender wars are their top choices right now for that, since they do double-duty so well, splitting us and diverting us at the same time.

A few hours later: they are now releasing a second version, which I suppose is the CGI version, from a different angle. How many cameras did they have pointing right at that one seat? That rail car must be nothing but cameras, with multiple cameras on every seat. We know this is fake by the reaction of the other passengers in the first video: they look over when he knocks her cap off and walks away, but do nothing to detain him, much less give aid. Iryna is supposed to have blood pouring out of her neck at that point, though we don't see it, but the reaction of the other passengers is that of people who just saw a girl have her cap knocked off. Ho-hum.
