

Fakes in Anaheim, Tallahassee, and Frisco

I don't know what they were up to in Anaheim yesterday, other than Operation Chaos, but they are selling us another highspeed chase with a white pickup. After a chase that lasted over an hour and included over a dozen police cars, blowing through intersections and crashing into bystanders, police finally used a PIT maneuver to stop the car and then killed the suspect in a hail of bullets. Most of it was filmed by helicopters, which is convenient.

So what did this guy do to merit that kind of response? Rob a bank and kill dozens of innocent people? Attack a grade school with multiple dead kids? Blow up town hall? No, he shot one guy at a motel, and that guy is fine. OK, then why would they chase him through LA for over an hour? Isn't that against all protocol? Yes, because you might end up killing more people in the chase than were killed by the suspect. The cops never would have been given the OK to give chase like that, since this wasn't in the middle of the night. It was at 7pm.

They published the film immediately, which is also suspicious. But from watching it for a few seconds, we can tell the whole thing is fake. When he is tapped from behind by the cruiser, he is going about 30mph and crisscrossing in front of the cop car to make it very easy to PIT him. Anyone can see that. Who flees from the cops and then goes 30mph? Why hadn't any of those dozen cruisers passed him and blocked him in? That would be even easier than a PIT and wouldn't require a tag. Why are all these streets cleared at 7 or 8pm? This is LA, not rural Mississippi. Plus, this footage wasn't just filmed, it was narrated. How does that work?

Clearly, this was just some footage from a Hollywood movie, and they decided to sell it as real. Most likely the guy will end up being black and they can sell it as part of the fake race war.

And in other news, we find the latest fake shooting at Florida State, where the son of a Sheriff's deputy allegedly used her gun to kill two people and injure six. The son's name? Prepare yourself. Phoenix Ikner. Wow, is this easy, or what? Of course it is on video and they have already released it. That's convenient, right? Oh, and completely against all the old rules.

Social media was collectively aghast at this video taken of a bloodied victim, with the person who recorded it casually strolling and sipping coffee, showing no curiosity about the person's condition, or interest in rendering aid.

Makes sense, right? Well, it does now that we know it was faked. The woman lying on the ground is said to be OK, but the fake wound is a joke to start with. Either she was shot right in the . . . crotch, or her tampon failed.

His mother Jessica Ikner has an 18-year career with the Sheriff's department. Did you get that clue? Aces and eights, Chai, as usual. Every effing time! She is a School Resource Officer, which means she would be involved in the school drills we always see, which are prep for fake shootings. So she already has red flags on her.

Phoenix's DOB is August 18, 2000. Aces and eights again.

And let's see, Phoenix has a military haircut and a military shirt. Just a coincidence, move on. He couldn't be a military actor here. He was driving an orange Hummer. Hmmm, a Hummer you say? Did it have army license tags? Don't believe me?

In 2020, their son went before a judge in his U.S. Navy Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps uniform and asked to change his name to Phoenix Ikner.

Ah, so he's Navy. Did he name himself for the city or for River or Joaquin Phoenix? Nope,

“He chose the name Phoenix because of its representation of rising from the ashes anew,” a

Leon County court document explains.

It has already been discovered Phoenix Ikner isn't his real name and Jessica isn't his mother. She is his stepmother, at most. His real name is Christian Eriksen, and he is Norwegian, with dual citizenship. But the story still makes no sense:

Phoenix's father, Christopher Ikner, married Jessica Ikner in 2010.

But wait, if that is his real father, then why isn't he named Christopher Eriksen? Are we supposed to believe Christopher Eriksen took the last name of his second wife Ikner? When is this going to start making sense?

We also have a huge problem if we look these people up on a People Search, like Instantcheckmate or Intelius or Radaris. Jessica Ikner is aka Jessica Anne Burdette, 46, of Tallahassee, previously of Crawfordville, Temple Terrace, and St. Petersburg. If we then search on Christopher Ikner of Tallahassee, we find him, age 49, related to Phoenix and Jessica. But he only has one location, meaning he has been scrubbed. His father is given as Jerald Ikner.

These Ikners of Florida are related to the Gates of Alexandria, LA, who are indeed related to Bill Gates (and the Barksdales). How do I know? Because one of these mainstream sources listed Jessica as Jennifer, and I ended up looking her up, only to find a Jennifer Ikner Gates, almost the same age and locations as Jessica. I searched on her Gates, proving they were from Suffolk like Bill Gates. Also interesting is Jessica Burdette's father or uncle, listed as Garland Burdette, 67, of Crawfordville. His LinkedIn page looks scrubbed, but they didn't do a very good job since they admit he works for St. Marks Powder.

Sounds like nothing, right? No, because St. Marks in Crawfordville is the ordnance division of General Dynamics, making 6000 tons of ball propellant for the military. Yep, a huge defense contractor. If you think that is just a coincidence here, you need to get off the ventilator.

In this family we also find Brenda Burdette of Crawfordville, who works at EOG. What is that? Used to be called ENRON. She previously worked for the Florida Dept. of Health.

If we look up Phoenix Ikner of Tallahassee at Radaris we find nothing, same for Christian Eriksen. You will say Radaris requires him to be 21. No, 18, same as the others. They have no Phoenix Ikner nationwide.

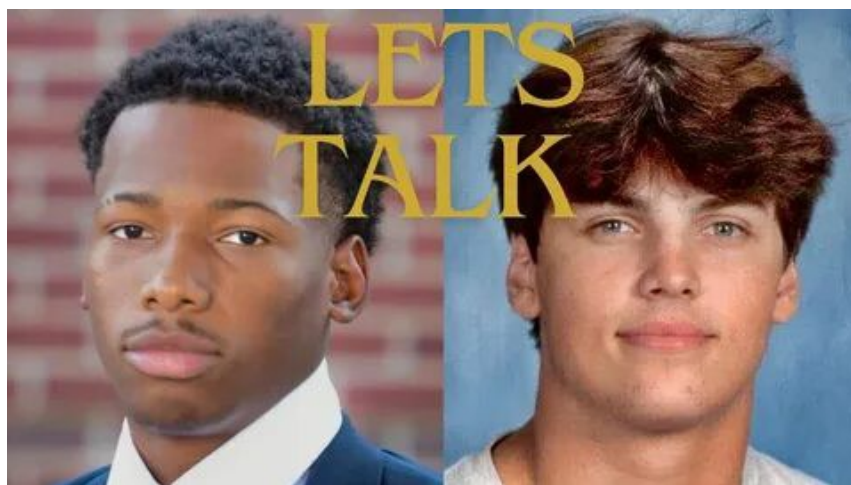

Someone is about to get fired, since they scrub these things expressly to prevent me from doing what I just did. But I did it anyway.

OK now for the slightly older fake from Frisco, TX, where a black kid named Karmelo Anthony allegedly stabbed to death a white kid named Austin Metcalf at a track meet, because he was sitting in the wrong chair. Pretty hard to stab someone to death with one thrust, but that is the story.

If you are a fan of Sherlock, you are going to love this one. I led with that photo above for a reason. It is not the one they usually show you to lead this story, but I found it because I was looking for it. It is in a set published at the Daily Mail, London. The good ole Daily Mail, who also reprinted my theory Hawking was an impostor, agreeing with me. You see the white boy is allegedly a twin, so I wanted to see the twins together. There they are with their Dad. See a problem? You should, since it is a paste. Why is Hunter, with the hat, skewed to the top left corner and Austin is skewed to the top right corner?

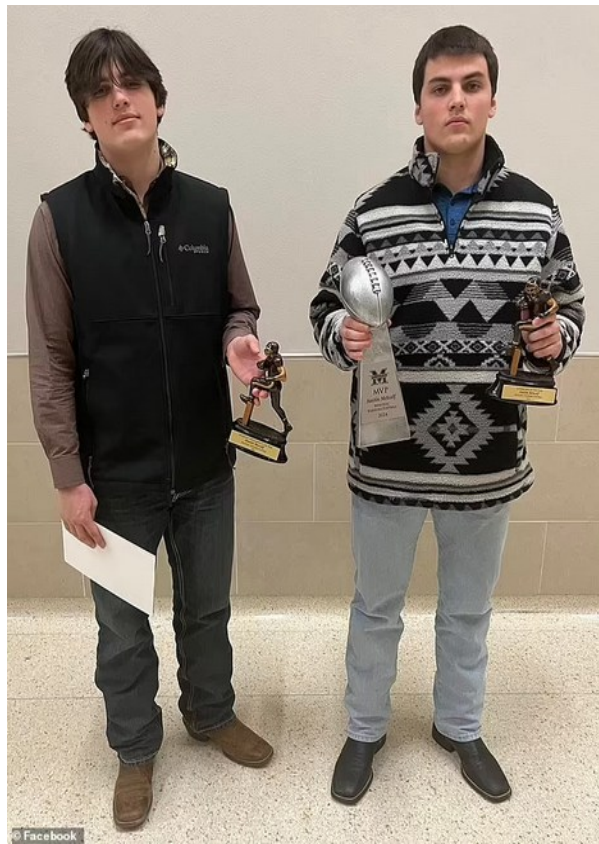

Both heads are distorted, but they aren't distorted in the same direction, are they? They look like they have been wiped in opposite directions. Also strange that Austin is forward of the other two, not with his arm around Dad. Is that the way you would do it with your twin? And do those two look like track stars? Austin is now being sold as some sort of great-looking athlete:

But those kids look doughy and short, with fat faces, not at all like runners that would be at a track meet. You will tell me that is an older picture, and the twins grew up and got in shape. That makes sense at first, since he looks older there in the second pic, right? Still doesn't look much like a runner, but might be an athlete like a football player, with a wide neck from using the machine. But pay close attention now. Go back to the first picture of them. What do you see in the background, on the mantel? You see the second pic of Austin framed, don't you? Obviously, whoever pasted this up did that to confirm this is him. But he got way too cute. Why? Can you figure it out, Encyclopedia Brown?

How can there be a picture of him older within a photo when he was younger? Did that photo materialize from the future?

But we have many other problems, even with that first photo. Again, Hunter is the first one, remember that.

As you see, they went all out, giving us not one, but two photos of them together in the same set. But again, the photo is weirdly skewed, especially on Hunter's head. It looks squashed, see the top right. Austin is again the second kid, since we see his name written on the silver trophy. He also has a mole on his chin, to your right. He has it in all the pics. Hunter has an even more obvious mole to the left of his mouth. But wait, it isn't in the first one of him with the hat! AI is really sloppy, isn't it? You will say it is a pimple, not a mole. But blow it up: it is brown, not red. Pimples are red or white, not big and brown.

Want more? I could go all day. In this last photo, study the shadows the two boys are throwing. Hunter is throwing a pretty obvious shadow straight back on the floor, and they have even indicated a shadow for the trophy he is holding—which doesn't really work but whatever. But if we compare to Austin, we see he is not throwing the same shadows. No straight lines going back on the ground.

There are many other things wrong with this event, and I am not the only one calling it a fake. A black pastor in Frisco had to address these “conspiracy theories”. But I guess when the families are such poor actors, this is what will happen. We have seen it many times, starting with Michael Jackson's family. Karmelo got caught trying to sell the event as real himself, saying, “I am not alleged, I really did it!” Why would he think he needed to say that? When he turned himself in, they created a big event of it outside the police station, with him actually shaking hands with the police officers while many people filmed it, including his mother. So yeah, why would anyone think this was staged or faked? Police always shake hands with murderers when they arrive.

Also, that whole event conflicts with earlier accounts where Karmelo was arrested by officers responding to 911 calls.

Anthony reportedly ran away before being arrested by responding officers.

If that is true, why would he later need to turn himself in? As usual, zero continuity with these fake scripts. AI doesn't even bother to remember what it said yesterday.

They immediately started a GoFundMe page to compete with that of the victim, and we are supposed to believe they have collected almost half a million dollars already, more than the Metcalfs. But who is going to give money to a kid who stabbed someone to death at a track meet over a chair? Are we supposed to believe black folks are just that full of hatred and that rich? I don't. The money had to be funneled from some CIA-front like Nation of Islam or something. The Anthonys have already bought a million-dollar home in the gated community Richwoods. Of course they did, and you don't think that name is an accident either, do you? We are led to believe they did so with the money from GoFundMe, but of course it is much more likely they did it with their CIA or FBI appearance fees.

It isn't only the Anthonys saying weird things. The twin Hunter is, too:

“Seventeen years, my best friend, just there in the blink of an eye, I lost him. So I'm not at that point to forgive and forget, but eventually I will,” Hunter said on Fox.

AI really doesn't understand human emotions, though we have been seeing the same script for many years, at least back to Sandy Hook. The victims are always talking about forgiving those who brutally murdered their loved ones, which no real person would be doing. Would you go on TV a few days after your twin bled to death in your arms and talk about forgiving the murderer? No, of course not. You might be able to forgive him after many years, but you wouldn't be talking about it calmly after a few days. Father Jeff Metcalf has already forgiven Anthony, and said so. This is all so scripted it is a joke.

Austin Metcalf's father is Jeff Metcalf, but according to Instantcheckmate, there are two of him as well:

 Jeffrey Neil Metcalf FRISCO, TX	54	Frisco, TX Plano, TX Arlington, TX Irving, TX Lubbock, TX Broken Bow, OK Sanger, TX Flower Mound, TX	Addyson Metcalf Allison Metcalf Faye Metcalf Jerry Metcalf Kennedy Metcalf Lesli Metcalf Lauren Metcalf Hayden Metcalf
Verified name match:  Jeff Metcalf
 Jeffrey Charles Metcalf FRISCO, TX	60	Frisco, TX McKinney, TX Flower Mound, TX Lewisville, TX Wichita Falls, TX Arlington, TX Plano, TX Corinth, TX	Lezlie Bartin Tim Bartin Travis Bartin Laura Loera Meghan Luce Albert Metcalf Charles Metcalf Crystal Metcalf
Possible Criminal or Traffic Records associated with the name Jeffrey Metcalf found!

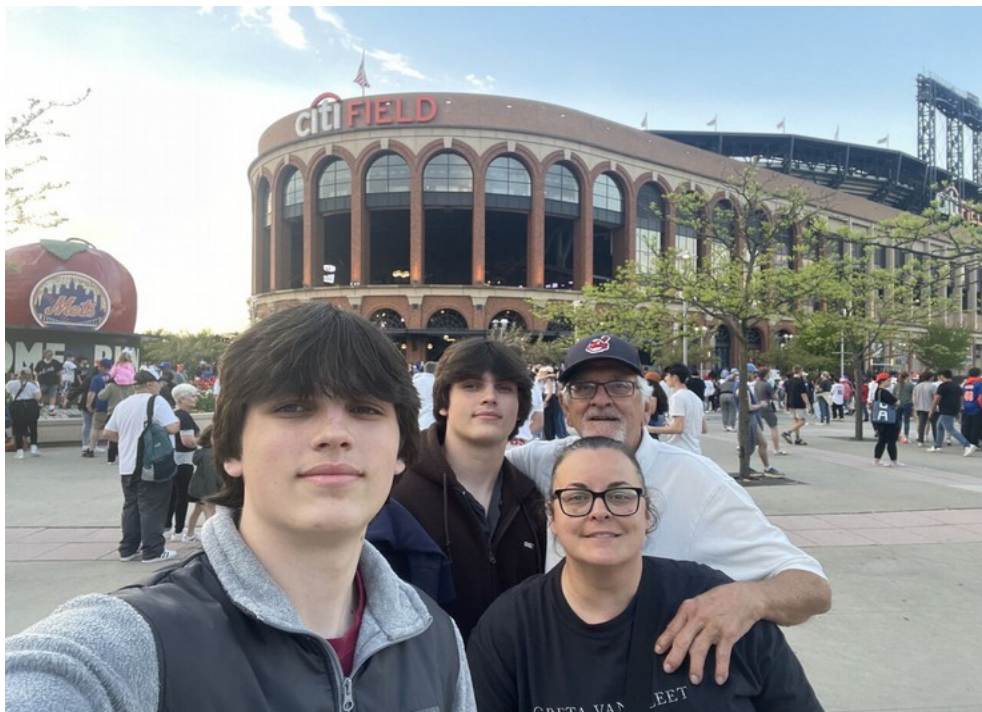

Different age and middle name and relatives, but strangely, four of the same locations, including the tiny Flower Mound. He also has two pages at LinkedIn, though it is the same guy. He worked real estate for Home City until 2019, and has apparently been self-employed since then. That was six years ago, so he would have been 48 or 54, depending on his real age. Both far too young to retire. Meghan Luce is the mother, so we have confirmation on the second one. But of course Luce is a big red flag, think Clare Boothe Luce, wife of the billionaire publisher of TIME, Henry Luce.

The NYPost gives us two pictures of this Meghan Luce in the same set, but they don't match:

Both are said to be recent, but one looks like the mother of the other. So what does Instantcheckmate say about her? She is Meghan Lee Luce, 48, and her first five relatives are Luces. She is related to Jeffrey, Crystal and Vickie Metcalf.

Here's another one of the twins I found at her LinkedIN page, under Meghan Metcalf, executive assistant at Toll Brothers:

You can really taste the fake there, can't you, since the twins not only look exactly alike for the first time, they just happen to be at exactly the same angle, as if they were taken from the same photo, doubled, and then slightly altered. AI loves that trick. But again AI has forgot their appropriate moles. And Dad is a lot older there, but has somehow grown as he went gray and got arthritis. Not looking too good for 60. Remember how short he was in the first one? Now he is the same height as his sons. Maybe he is now wearing three inch lifts. You will say the boys were wearing boots while Dad was barefoot in the first one. So you might want to check that theory. Nope, Austin was wearing Birkenstocks and Dad was wearing black sneakers. Birkies have no heel.

Meghan is related to Clifton Luce, 53, of Plano, whose LinkedIn page says he is Director of Information Technology at Accuro Ag. But if you take the link from their page at LinkedIn, it goes to a Chinese gaming site, and if you search on it you end up at 404ed pages. So that's suspicious.

We also link to Barbara Jean Luce, 80, of Plano and Dallas. At Radaris she links to a Jessica Rosenbloom in Phily, aka Jessica Prall. Also to Clint Bryan Luce, 55, of the Luce Group LLC, Dallas. And we find the same thing, with the company being defunct and their linked website being for sale by GoDaddy. At Radaris, he is aka Clint Luce Altschuld. So we are getting a lot of Jewish links now. Rosenbloom and Altschuld are Jewish.

Also strange that Austin Metcalf's funeral was two weeks after his death. Funerals are normally done within a week. But that is assuming you have a real body and not a ghost twin.

Just two days before his life was taken, Metcalf posted a heartbreaking final message on social media, insisting he had 'faith that God got me.'

'Faith that God got me... and my work will pay off,' he posted on X. It has since been viewed 3.3 million times.

So that was fortunate, posting a heartbreaking final message two days before dying, almost as if he knew he was going to die. What a coincidence, right? And how many times was it viewed? That's just another coincidence, too.

As I was working on this, Jon Bowne at Infowars dropped a report on this event, featuring the research of Patrick Howley. Howley shows the event is heavily funded and scripted, probably by Soros and the usual suspects, but he still doesn't reach my conclusion it isn't just scripted on the downside, it is scripted on the upside as well: faked from the ground up. Same for black commentator Jason Whitlock, who is admitting it is a psyop, but is not admitting it was simply staged. And what was it scripted and staged to do? Incite race wars, of course, to get your eyes off other things, primarily the vaccine genocide which should be page one this week as the White House released papers affixing blame and naming names, including Fauci, Daszak, Hotez, and Walensky. These people are now in sight for prosecution, despite Biden's illegal pardon (you can't pre-pardon someone). That's why we see links to hospitals and departments of health in all of these recent fakes. Pfizer now owns every department of health in the country.

As a tack-on, let's look briefly at the Tren de Aragua suspect living at the home of New Mexico judge, who just resigned.

There is the judge Jose Cano hanging out with his gangbanger buddies, as you do. In case you don't know, Tren de Aragua is supposed to be a scary international gang out of Venezuela, involved in arms and drug trafficking . . . sort of like the CIA. Anyway, that third kid got arrested at Cano's house, where he was living, and the judge resigned immediately in disgrace. The mainstream is reading it every way but the right way, of course.

Love the shirts, by the way. Only the scariest people wear US Polo team shirts and Tibet shirts. Gangbangers are very socially conscious and want to free Tibet, right? Also notice that Cano is throwing up a fake gang sign and laughing at the absurdity of it all. I also don't see any tattoos, but I do see a lot of big expensive watches. Gangbangers are very punctual, you know.

So can you read it the right way? The right way is that Tren de Aragua is a fake gang, like all the others we have looked at over the years, including the biggest like the ones headed by El Chapo and Pablo Escobar. They are all part of Operation Chaos, and they act as cover for the CIA as well as spreading fear and destabilization. I have shown you all the Italian mobsters like Capone were fake, and it is the same thing here exactly: make-work projects for CIA, FBI, ICE and DHS. They have to do something with those huge budgets, funded by money stolen from your taxes. This is what it is.

This kids are just local Hispanics with scary tattoos (or not) paid to take part in this vaudeville. Pictures like that just prove it beyond any doubt.
